110th Anniversary

Mount Vernon Seminary was founded in 1875 by Elizabeth J. Somers and was one of the first institutions to have its collegiate work so recognized. On November 5th 1917, the celebration of Mrs. Elizabeth J. Somers' eightieth birthday and institution of Founder's Day took place at Mount Vernon College. At that time Mount Vernon's campus was located on Nebraska Avenue.

In 1910 Mrs. Somers purchased land on Nebraska Avenue and for the first time since its founding, Mount Vernon had its own complete campus. The new campus created a true sense of identity as a community. During these happy years, the "Cupola" was formed as Mount Vernon's yearbook and literary publication.

World War II started in 1942, and Mount Vernon College was notified on December 15, 1942 that the U.S. Navy was to acquire the title to all buildings and grounds in the interest of the war effort. On January 12, 1943, Mount Vernon leased land in Spring Valley for student living quarters, classrooms, offices and library. After the lease expired, Mount Vernon relocated to Foxhall Road. After eleven years the campus was finally completed.

Today Mount Vernon is still growing as a four year women's college. Mount Vernon College has been through the invention of the telephone, World War I and II, the first man launched into space, and has seen the changes in style and modes of each graduating class. From the petticoats and long white dresses to bobby sox and poodle skirts to jeans and rugby shirts, Mount Vernon College has been through it all. Georgetown accepts Mount Vernon as readily as Mount Vernon women accept changes in the college's constitution have been made to reflect the changes that have taken place over one hundred and ten years. Mount Vernon has remained an integral part of Washington, D.C.

Today Mount Vernon women are more independent and less restricted than in the past years.

This year's graduating class will remember the long weeks of studying, Friday Night Happy Hours at the Pub, Quad Parties and Georgetown.

The memories of Freshmen Orientation, Cafeteria food, late night phone calls, pizza deliveries, final examinations and the laughter shared with friends will be but an image in her mind as each Mount Vernon student moves on with the memories of Mount Vernon trailing behind.

Although we reflect to 1875 and notice the dramatic changes that have taken place, in a sense, Mount Vernon women haven't changed. We still share the tradition, spirit, and warmth that Mount Vernon has provided us with along with a great education and memories shared.

In a small college, the quality of campus life is so closely linked to the VISION, COMMITMENT, and ENTHUSIASM of its students, working cooperatively on campus projects, set a standard of leadership, which makes us all proud.

As Mount Vernon enters its twelfth decade of educating women leaders, we dedicate this anniversary yearbook to the 1985-86 SGA, and in doing so, we applaud the participation of all of our student leaders. It takes a special kind of student to contribute her efforts to her college community; you have done so capably and with love.

Congratulations!
"Dean" Donna

Convocation

To the seniors of 1986 it is a year to shine, remember, grow, learn, share, and most of all enjoy what we have worked so long for . . . a college education. To start our year of shining, the Convocation Ceremony was one of great gala. Julia M. Walsh was present to address the Seniors, Guests, and Family members during the Convocation ceremony.

In 1963, Julia M. Walsh was the first appointed female to the American Stock Exchange. Presently, she is the president of the Washington Board and director of the Pennsylvania Avenue Development Corporation. She is a dynamic role model for our class to follow. Following the ceremony in Hoolins Chapel which marked the beginning of the 110th Anniversary, this grand affair was underway in a big yellow and white tent with champagne continuously flowing and a catered buffet dinner. The evening was one of sparkle.

Anti-Apartheid Day

Our world ceases to be a true brotherhood when members of it are being persecuted, oppressed, and repressed. Today we are gathered to offer our hopes and prayers for them. That one day they might be free.

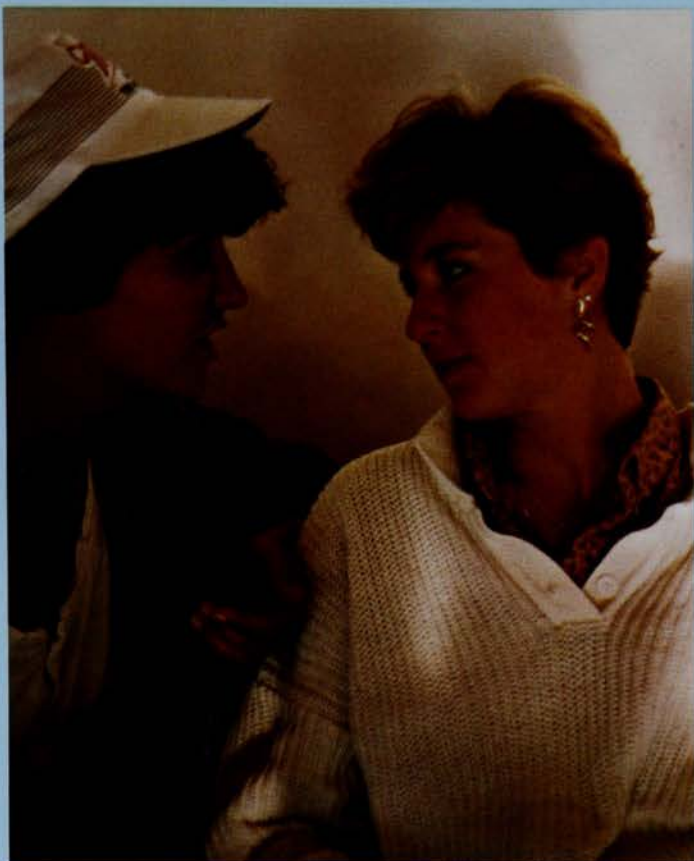

Martin Luther King once said, "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. Whatever affects one directly, affects all indirectly." Never again can we afford to live with the view that we are outsiders and unconnected to what is going on in the world. Man's progress and the advances of human society hinges on each of us. Whatever violates the integrity of the human person, whatever insults human dignity such as subhuman living conditions arbitrary imprisonment, slavery, as well as disgraceful work conditions — where men and women are treated as mere tools for profit rather than as free and responsible persons, which are happening in South Africa today are infamies. They poison human society. Every type of discrimination is to be overcome and eradicated. A human person stands alone all things and his rights and duties are universal and inviolable.

Society must be founded on truth, built on justice — in freedom: it should grow everyday toward a more humane society. Human institutions must labor to minister to the dignity and purpose of man. They must put up a stubborn fight against any kind of slavery, whether political or social, and safeguard the rights of every man under every political system.

The future of humanity lies in the hands of those who are strong enough to provide coming generations with reasons for living and hoping. By coming here tonight we are all pleading for peace. Our gathering, if anything, shows our support for those who are living under the apartheid system and our hope the someday they will experience the freedoms and dignity that should be guaranteed to each man.

Speidel, Goodrich, and Lille

"Upon their third call to me and a discount in price, I hired them. That event took place in February '85. I wasn't sure what the turnout would be and was expecting a loss. That night three people paid a $3 cover charge to hear Speidel, Goodrich, And Goggin.

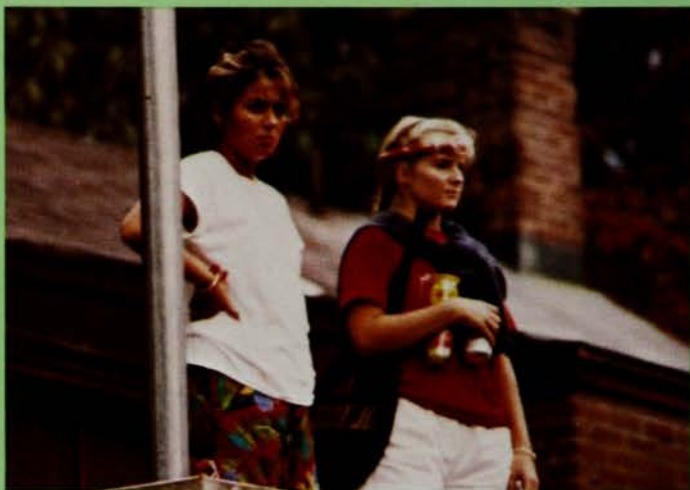

A month later, I unsuccessfully tried to bring them back to the Pub for a spring concert. Unfortunately, they had just released an album, were touring Florida and changed members of their band. So, Dean Carroll suggested having them play during Orientation Week. We were both unsure how it would go over, nor the effect it would have on the start of the year.

Dean Carroll and I, nervously, planned the event. When I left for New York, Tracey Jones became my D.C. contact for contract fees and signatures. When I returned in September, Tracey and I were prepared for the worst and thought about how much money we would lose. Then came the night of the event.

Speidel, Goodrich, and Lille were supposed to start at 9:00 p.m. on September 19. There were 20 people in the pub; we all breathed heavily. By 11:00 there were 300 people enjoying the music of the group. Seven kegs of beer later, the party ended. Not only was the night a success, but it yielded a profit. Once again the SGA was the foundation of a fantastic party and the start of a successful year.

There were times during my four years at M.V.C. that I didn't think I would get this far, and even now, there are still so many things to accomplish.

To all my friends, I am now able to thank you for all you've done: the encouragement; advice; listening; counseling; and for just being you, a friend.

The time has passed quickly and has been too short, but the memories will be everlasting.

Founders Day

On November 7, Mount Vernon College celebrated Founder's Day. The day began with Panel Discussions in Clark and Cole Lounges. The discussions were both recent and past alumnae headed who spoke of the critical choices they in their lives, and how Mount Vernon contributed to those choices.

The next activity was a fireside chat with Mrs. Barbara Bush, the Vice President's wife, an honorary Mount Vernon College alumna. Mrs. Bush discussed her own experiences and choices in life in an informal gathering in Post Hall.

After the discussion, the second and third generation students were joined by Mrs. Bush in cutting the traditional Founder's Day cake for a reception recognizing Mt. Vernon's honor students.

The day was concluded by a formal candlelight dinner. After dinner Mt. Vernon's student modeled in some of the Fashions of the Eleven Decades. It featured historical sketches and clothing, styles of every decade from 1875 to today. It was a great ending to Mount Vernon's Founder's Day. We are look forward to another exciting Founder's Day next year.

BEST WISHES TO MOUNT VERNON
AND ITS STUDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Hughes

Dearest Mynette,

When you were in first grade we never measured love by the gold stars on your forehead, or the A's you brought home from school. We watched you work hard and achieve and we were very proud. Now, let your dreams soar to the sky, for with faith and trust in God no goal can be too high.

We love you and are very proud, congratulations on your graduation!

Mom and Pop

Congratulations and success to all graduating seniors.

There are not many accomplishments in your life which will directly affect the people around you. Being the 86 Cupola Editor is one of those.

The 85-86 school year has been a year of change. Americans still like Dynasty and Dallas on TV. A war for Coca-Cola Classic raged in America — American's favorite drink. The Big rock groups were: Tears for Fears, Wham, Simple Minds, and Madonna. The Big Movies were: "St. Elmo's Fire," "Back To The Future", — Michael J. Fox, "Rambo" — Sylvester Stallone and "The Color Purple". The Big Fashion Looks were: stirrup pants, costume jewelry, and paisley shirts.

All of these great events happened plus the yearbook managed to make all it's deadlines. All those times we gave up our Friday nights, Halloween, Thanksgiving, and the Bahamas Party. Without help I would have never made those deadlines. I would especially like to thank: Erin Burke, Abby Spencer, Meg Norris, Chris Hartley, Margot Demente and Heather Gow. Special thanks to: Kyle Moran, Victoria Abel-Smith, Lee Price, Lee Riddle, Margaret Norman, Kristen Crowe, Roberta Traynor and Catherine Carmichael. Thank You Everyone! SENIORS — Only 100 days till GRADUATION!
